TIM PAGE-BOTTORFF

MS | CSP | CIT | FASSP

Tim Page-Bottorff is the Senior Director for Health, Safety, Security, Environment, and Quality for Jones Lang LaSalle IP, Inc. He began his safety career more than 33 years ago in the U.S. Marine Corps in Operations Desert Shield and Desert Storm. He is a Senior Vice President and board member for the American Society of Safety Professionals (ASSP) where he has been a professional member for over 25 years. Page-Bottorff has earned multiple international recognition awards for excellence in the Safety Profession; including the ASSP Safety Professional of the Year (SPY) at the chapter, region, practice specialty, and national Society-level. Most recently Tim was awarded lifetime career achievement recognition as a Fellow of the ASSP. Page-Bottorff is a safety trainer, author, podcast host and highly sought after motivational keynote speaker. He lectures for the OSHA Education Center at the University of California San Diego Extension and at the University of Maryland Global Campus in addition to numerous professional development conferences across the country. Additionally, he is the author of "The Core of Four: 4 Tools to Navigate Roadblocks to Great Human Performance." Page-Bottorff holds a bachelor's degree in business management and a master's in occupational safety and health management from Central Washington University. He is the father of three, married to the amazing Sheila, and they are now the grandparents of two amazing grandkids. He resides in Mesa, AZ.

Tim utilizes the "Stop, Collaborate, and Listen" framework to transform workplace safety from a compliance-driven, rule-based system into a human-centered, team-based culture. This method focuses on slowing down, fostering collaboration, and active listening. Participants will gain an understanding of the human factors framework and context into better collaboration by asking, "can you walk me through this?"
